

137c5 Red Road, Norfolk Island

RARE ACREAGE

This beautiful piece of land is tucked away on a lovely side of the Island, close to Cascade and the National Parks. Characterised by large blocks and few homes up this way, you will have wonderful privacy, and any home built here would be a haven.

The true extent of the views out to the east will only be discovered by clearing some of the non-native scrub in the area, leaving behind established and ancient Norfolk pines and White Oaks. The property is perched on the ridge at Red Road, implying that the views will be sweeping across the island.

The property offers long road frontage, and connections to main power already available at the road.
